

Sébastien Leclerc, Constellium

Sebastien holds degrees from Georgia Institute of Technology – Atlanta (Electrical and Computer engineering, and Aerospace Engineering), and Ecole des Mines de Saint-Etienne (France).

Sebastien has 8+ years of experience in strategy consulting and innovation projects for top players in Aerospace & Defense industries.

- He has the opportunity to work on top-line strategy projects such as go-to-market strategy, P&L review and optimization, techno push, innovation audit and strategy definition for various players (Safran, Airbus, Thales etc.)

Since 2023, Sebastien works at Constellium as Strategy & Business Development Manager for Aerospace & Defense markets:

- He drives and supports the implementation of Constellium strategic and growth initiatives across the Business Unit, with a focus on Aerospace.
- Part of his cope includes: analyzis of potential and profitability of current product lines and identifying opportunities for expansion across the portfolio. He also drives key strategic initiatives related to the next-decade aircraft platforms.